In a paper on "The Trade of Western and

He quoted the clause of the Chefoo Convention making the opening of the nort contingent on its being reached by steamers, and having previously An elephant sent to Lhassa as a gift to the shown the importance of the place as a distributing centre, proves in the latter part of his paper that it is perfectly accessible, the dates to the 22nd ult., has arrived at Yokohama Yangtsze being navigable not only as far as Chungking, but beyond it. This, says Mr. Hosie, proved a new epoch for the transit import trade of China, and he gives facts and the late arrival of the artist and party by the India, and the sea voyage, of course, would tell the water line. The Taiwo backed off and anfigures which amply justify the statement. We may note in passing that the "new epoch" has not vet commenced in Southern China, where the transit pass is found almost useless. On the Yangteze, however, there has been a wonderful development of trade under the clause referred to. In 1875 the foreign goods sent from Hankow to Szechuen under transit pass reached only the in the Porvenir de Bisayas the "ilustrados masmall total of £40,000. Subsequently the rineros del Flying Fisch" must have enjoyed a port of Ichang was opened, and the trade of ooth ports one gene on concurrency increases and the stack was made was, he said, without his from Foothow, arrived at Tanjong Pagar wharf, ing. In 1881 goods to the value of one million sterling were sent up from the two ports.
